Friends, family mourn shooting of former BHS student

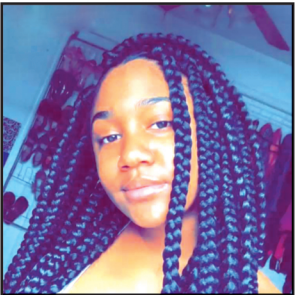

BY STACEY CATO CONTRIBUTING WRITER

GULFPORT -- Community members and classmates are mourning the tragic shooting of former Bay High School student Imani Rogers on Friday night in Gulfport.

As of press time Tuesday night, family and friends said the 16-year-old remained on life support, but they were preparing to say their goodbyes.

"Though the odds are against us, please note that my niece, Imani, is still here with us," said Rogers' Aunt Maria Palmer in a Facebook post. "God has the final say."

The shooting took place on the 16000 block of Crestview Drive in Gulfport at about 8:30 p.m. Friday. After a neighbor called to report a shooting to Gulfport police, responding officers found the teen lying on the floor with a gunshot wound to the head.

Imani Rogers

Rogers had reportedly just left her home a short time before to go "hang out" with her friends, one of whom was said to be her boyfriend, family members told the Echo.

"When did a CHILD loving someone begin to cost them their life," Jaimie Smith said in a Facebook post. ".....Her friends murdered our baby, and her other friends watched as she bled out fighting for her life!"

Shortly after the shooting and with Rogers fighting for her life at an area hospital, police arrested and connected 20-year-old Dedrick Sawon Magee in connection with the incident. He was initially charged with aggravated assault manifesting in extreme indifference to human life, but that charge was dropped on Monday.

Upon further investigation, police identified 17-year-old Latavion Bland as a suspect in the case. He was charged as an adult with one count of aggravated assault, police said. Officials said more charges are expected to be filed in the case.

Police said they believe Magee lied during questioning and has now been charged with one count of hinder-

Artists visit Waveland's Dragon Fire Studio

This week, local artist Donna Cowart Martin hosted two visiting artists and one local artist at her glass studio in Waveland, Dragon Fire Studio.

"We all met last year at a class in Texas and they decided to come here," Martin said.

Martin hosted a "Float Glass Boot Camp" for Carol Barker from Nevada; Susan Caspi from California; and Rosie Dumoulin from Bay St. Louis.

"Float glass is window glass," Martin said. "The molten glass is poured on metal tables while being made at the factory with an air side up and a tin side down. The glass fuser should determine the proper side to use when fusing to receive the desired outcome. To do this, the fuser will use an ultraviolet light in a very dark room."

Martin said all the artists are accomplished in their own rights, but this was their first time working with float glass.

To add color to the glass, the artists used enamels, which is "powdered glass that has gone through a vulcanization process," Martin said.

"The enamels are applied to this glass using sifters, vibrating nibs, or using a painting method," Martin said.

The final step is firing in a glass kiln, Martin said.

"A glass kiln has one shelf, with more direct heat, yet the heating and cooling of glass should maintain the integrity of the glass as it is being processed in the kiln," Martin said. "Firing schedules and processing glass is different than firing pottery. Glass is ramped up in segments with hold times in between these segments. As the glass is cooled in the same way with segmented cool down times."

Martin's husband Bob helped Caspi, Barker, and Dumoulin make a wooden base for the floating glass using cedar and zebra wood, an exotic wood imported from Africa.

The artists also used alcohol inks and made botanicals, which were made using glass and pulling "stringers" with the use of a torch. Using a frame, the artists made a 3D art pieces.

"We love what heat does when added to glass," Martin said.

This glass botanical will be used in a 3d piece.

Canine division captures suspect after brief pursuit

SEA COAST ECHO

Last week, officers from the Hancock County

Sheriff's Office Canine Division had to chase down a driver after conducting a traffic stop in the 6100 block of Kiln-DeLisle Road in Hancock County, officials said.

"Mr. Evans was found to have an active arrest warrant in Hancock County, and was also found to be in possession of approximately three ounces of marijuana, 39 grams of methamphetamine, one ounce of synthetic cannabinoid, and multiple dosage units of hydrocodone, along with drug paraphernalia and a loaded firearm."

Narcotics agents charged Evans with three felony counts for Possession of Controlled Substance and two misdemeanor counts for Possession of Controlled Substance and Possession of Paraphernalia, Skinner said.

“The annual Souper Mudfest was a success, as always,” event organizer Nancy Moynan said Tuesday. The Old Town Merchants Assoc. celebrated Souper Mudfest as part of the Second Saturday Artwalk. Participants purchased hand-made soup bowls made by local potters and visited local merchants, who provided free soup, chili and stew. The funds raised will benefit the Hancock Food Pantry, Hancock County Tourism, and the Old Town Merchants Assoc. “It’s always such a success because all of us work together to promote art and the positive aspects of our community,” Moynan said. Hancock County deputies on Monday arrested a Pass 'Christian man for allegedly raping a Kiln resident last month.

Deputies charged Larry Dale Ladner, 62, Monday with one count of sexual battery. He was booked at the Hancock County Correctional Facility but released less than an hour later on a $20,000 bond.

"On Feb. 23, 2019, the Hancock County Sheriff's Office was dispatched to a residence in the Kiln for a reported rape," Chief Deputy Jeremy Skinner said in a press release Tuesday. "Deputies met with the victim at her residence and had her transported to Ochsner Medical Center for evaluation and treatment via American Medical Response."

"The Hancock County Criminal Investigations Division immediately began to investigate the alleged rape. During the investigation, investigators conducted multiple interviews as well as collected physical evidence. Through a thorough investigation, the Criminal Investigations Division obtained sufficient evidence to charge Larry Ladner, whom is an acquaintance of the victim, with Sexual Battery. An arrest warrant was signed by Justice Court Judge Jay Lagasse and a bond of $20,000 was set."

The incident is still under investigation. As of press time Tuesday, no trial date had been scheduled.

Traffic stop leads to discovery of 'magic mushroom' farm

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

A routine traffic stop Saturday led Hancock County deputies to discover an alleged "magic mushroom" growing operation in Pass Christian.

"On Saturday, March 9, Hancock County deputies conducted a traffic stop in the area of Tombigbee Drive and Tigris Drive in Bay St. Louis, after observing multiple traffic violations," Chief Deputy Jeremy Skinner said in a statement issued Tuesday. "A subsequent search of the vehicle resulted in recovery of approximately 27 grams of psilocybin hallucinogenic mushrooms and a small quantity of marijuana."

Skinner said the driver, Jason Mosca, 42, of Pass Christian, was arrested and charged with felony Possession of Controlled Substance (psilocybin) and misdemeanor Possession of Controlled Substance (marijuana).

"Subsequent investigation by Hancock County Sheriff's Office Narcotics Division led to a search of Mosca's residence," Skinner said, "where agents located and recovered a psilocybin mushroom growing operation. Evidence seized included 17 large cultivation containers actively producing psilocybin mushrooms, cultivation supplies, and processing and distribution equipment. Agents also recovered additional quantities of dried finished product, THC concentrate, and approximately 10 ounces of psilocybin concentrate."

That evidence led to additional charges against Mosca, Skinner said, including felonies Controlled Substance Trafficking of

Jason Mosca

This is another case where a simple traffic stop, followed by some effective investigative work, led to a good opportunity to remove a lot of dangerous drugs from the streets of Hancock County," Sheriff Ricky Adam said in the release. "Locally, we rarely see sophisticated manufacturing operations involving drugs other than marijuana. That said, our agents are trained and prepared to deal with them, and we will be vigorously pursuing this case further, to stop the problem before it becomes more serious."

As of press time Tuesday, Mosca was still incarcerated at the Hancock County Justice Facility on at total of $70,000 in bonds, according to jail records.

Teachable moments

One of the most enjoyable things about my job is getting to meet so many different people from all walks of life.

I've met several inspiring children with rare diseases, an astronaut, singers, scientists, actors, and several artists.

The human interest and community stories are my favorite to write.

I'm always honored that someone -- in most cases a total stranger -- will sit with me, share their story, and then trust me to take that story to share with our readers.

This week, I met artists from California, Nevada, and Bay St. Louis who were studying float glass in Donna Cowart Martin's glass studio, Dragon Fire Studio in Waveland.

I enjoy meeting artists and getting to tour their studios and see how they craft their art.

I've never heard of float glass before and it was pretty neat to learn more about it. You can learn more about it in a story I wrote for today's paper.

While gazing in awe at some of the artwork and talking with Martin, I made the comment, "I don't have an artistic bone in my body."

She assured me that I do and maybe I "haven't had the right teacher yet."

That really struck a cord with me. I've always been too afraid to attempt my hand at anything of the artistic nature, no matter the medium.

The closest I get to that is taking pictures for my Instagram account. I love having the ability to capture moments that inspire me with my phone's camera.

I also enjoy wearing colorful makeup looks and figuring out which colors will look good together. Some of the makeup artists I watch on YouTube are phenomenal at what they do.

So maybe I do have an inner artist after all and shouldn't be afraid to explore that.

When Martin talked about teaching, I also thought about the things I learn every day.

Since I started reporting, I've learned more about how city and county governments work; how school districts run their business; seen firsthand how first responders keep us safe and rescue those in peril; and learned about rare diseases.

I could go on and on. But I've always known that everyone I meet has the potential to be a teacher. We all have different professions and it's great to discover more about each other's jobs. That way we can be more understanding of each other.

This world is so big and there is so much to learn from each other. Don't ever think that you know it all, because no one ever will.

I think it's important to continue participating in active learning every day. The more we know, the more we can make better informed decisions.

As for me, I just may have to take one of those art classes I've always wanted to.

Criminal justice reform

Earlier This Year, President Trump signed into law The First Step Act, a first step toward criminal justice reform. The goal is to reduce the sky-high U.S. incarceration rate, which is five times higher than other developed countries in the world.

The Mississippi Legislature is likely to pass similar reforms at the state level. House Bill 1352, the Criminal Justice Reform Act, passed 110-5 and now goes to the state senate. Phil Bryant called for criminal justice reform in his last state of the state address, so he is sure to sign any legislative efforts into law.

The state reforms are far more important than the federal reforms because two million prisoners are in state and local prisons compared to

by Wyatt Emmerich

225,000 in federal prisons.

Mississippi has one of the highest incarceration rates in the nation, which means it has one of the highest incarceration rates in the world. There must be a better way.

The proposed reforms are significant, expanding intervention drug and mental health courts as a diversion from prison. People convicted of a violent crime, other than burglary, in the last 10 years will not be eligible.

The bill also eliminates the practice of suspending driver's licenses for people who fail to pay fines and face minor drug charges. In our auto-based state, with practically no mass transit, license suspension has effectively forced minor lawbreakers into unemployment, making it even harder to get their lives back together.

Another aspect of the bill is to eliminate non-violent convicts from being banned from obtaining occupational licenses. Ex-convicts need jobs, not lifelong banishment.

All of this points to a profound political change in Mississippi and the nation. Lock 'em up and throw away the key is losing ground. Politicians are no longer scared to death of being viewed as soft on crime. Numerous polls show voters are overwhelmingly in favor of reform.

This will be a long road with lots of bumps but the goal is admirable. In Europe, 90 percent of the prison budget goes to rehabilitation and 10 percent goes to incarceration. In the U.S. those numbers are reversed.

If we can do a better job at keeping people out of prison, we have a much better chance of reducing the $300 million a year we spend on incarceration in Mississippi -- half as much as we spend on all forms of higher education.

Last year, I spent three weeks sitting through a federal trial involving the East Mississippi Correctional Facility. It

Properly Dispose of Pesticide Containers

The residue from pesticides that leak from unrinsed, discarded containers has the potential to cause significant damage to our environment. Therefore, containers should be rinsed immediately after use. If left in the container to dry, the residue becomes more difficult to remove. So, make it a little easier on yourself and go ahead and rinse it out right after you use it.

Since these containers have contained a commercial, hazardous material, it is illegal to dispose of them in landfills, recycling bins or incinerators. The only acceptable place to take them for disposal is to a hazardous waste facility. While this can be costly and time consuming, there is another option.

The most commonly used method is triple rinsing. When emptying a liquid pesticide from its container, wait until the flow reduces to drops. Continue

by James L. Cummins

Wildlife Mississippi

draining for a minimum of 30 minutes after the drops start. Add the correct amount of water according to the size of the container: containers up to 5 gallons require an amount equal to at least one quarter of its volume; 30? to 55?gallon containers require a minimum of 5 gallons of water. Once water is added, secure the lid on the container and vigorously shake smaller container. Larger containers should be rolled or tumbled in such a manner as to rinse all interior surfaces. Remove the lid and drain into spray tank. Continue draining for 30 seconds after drops start. Repeat this rinse process two more times. Replace lid and dispose of container.

Pressure rinsing takes less time but requires the purchase of a special nozzle. This rinsing method can be done as the pesticide is emptied into the spray tank. The special nozzle attaches to a garden hose and is used to puncture plastic and metal containers. Insert pressure nozzle by puncturing lower side of container. The nozzle produces a forceful spray inside the empty container and should be rotated to ensure that all interior surfaces are properly rinsed. Rinse for length of time recommended by the manufacturer -- usually 30 seconds. Container lid should be rinsed separately and placed back onto the container for disposal.

If properly prepared before disposal, the containers are then considered to be non-hazardous by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Proper preparation includes either triple rinsing or pressure rinsing. Laboratory studies concluded that these methods resulted in less than 1 part per million of residual in the water from the container after cleaning. This is a safe level in which to dispose of the containers using traditional disposal methods.

Proper rinsing is easy, saves money and reduces the risk of environmental contamination. As always, check with your local recycling center for regulations governing your area.

Local signs to play for Auburn-Montgomery

SEA COAST ECHO

Local soccer player Andrew Elkins, who played at Pearl River Community College last fall, has signed to continue his education and play at Auburn-Montgomery.

Elkins, a centerback who graduated from St. Stanislaus, was an immediate difference maker for PRCC in 2018. Besides registering a goal and two assists, Elkins was a force along the back line. He was selected to play in the MACJC All-Star game. He also earned a 4.0 GPA and a spot on the President's List. "I really looked at it as a whole," Elkins said of his commitment. "It's a very good school with a very good coach who has pushed his players to the next level. He's a really motivated guy and I'm ready to work for another motivated coach."

PRCC coach Drew Gallant only had praise for Elkins. "Andrew filled a big need we had at centerback after transferring in from Mississippi College," he said. "He proved to be the player we knew he could be. He was always a leader at the back, vocal, great in the air and just a complete center back."

Elkins' teammate Joe Elliott - a native of England - also signed this week and will head to Delta State in the fall.

SEA COAST ECHO

The fourth annual CASA Superhero 5K and Fun Run is scheduled for April 6. The first CASA Superhero 5K and Fun Run to benefit CASA of Hancock County was held April 2, 2016, in downtown Bay St. Louis. The Superhero Run 5K Run/Walk will be held in Waveland. It will begin and end at the Waveland Lighthouse near Coleman Ave. The course goes east down Beach Blvd. and then turns around to continue back west toward Coleman Ave.

Reform

was a huge investment of my time, but I realized I would never get a better opportunity to see inside the belly of our prison beast. I never saw a single one of our state leaders at the trial.

I was shocked by the intricate and detailed testimony. Let me sum it up: Our prisons are run by gangs.

As a result, our prisons are gang factories. Once in prison, you have to join a gang for protection. When you get out, you are a gang member, forced into a life of crime. What an irony. Prisons are designed to decrease crime but they are doing the exact opposite.

Low pay for guards is a key problem. This makes it easy for the gangs to recruit the guards.

Private prison companies can cut costs by letting the gangs do the work of maintaining order. In return, the gangs get the contraband franchise - a money making machine. The gangs now have the ability to seamlessly operate both inside and outside the prison system.

Drive-by shootings for no purpose? Probably a gang initiation. Most murders are gangs fighting for drug turf. Just look at Mexico to see what happens if you let the gangs get the upper hand. We must nip this in the bud or the battle will be much harder down the road. It is a threat to our civilized society.

When Chicago gangland warfare spun out of control, our society was forced to abandon Prohibition. Similarly, we must begin the process of decriminalizing drugs. Profits from illegal drugs fuel the gangs. And just as bad moonshine killed thousands, street drugs are deadly, killing tens of thousands.

The War on Drugs was admirable in its intent but the cure has proven worse than the disease. This 50-year experiment has failed.

We must begin to see addiction for what it is: A disease and treat it accordingly. Just Google "drug reform in Portugal." There's the road map.

My cousin Brent Hardy is a defense attorney in a small city in Texas, Boerne. He lives and breathes this every day. This week he sent me the following email. His politics are as conservative as they come, but his indictment of our current criminal justice system is scathing:

Wyatt:

I read your column about criminal justice reform, and I felt compelled to observe it as among the most concise, persuasive arguments I have read in support of changing the status quo.

Sadly, we face the same problem in Texas. I have seen countless clients sentenced to years in prison because of addiction.

It may surprise some that, when they first appear before the court, they are typically granted probation. But one of the conditions of probation is abstinence from drug use. With little (or substandard) assistance from the state, they invariably relapse. This is, after all, what addicts do.

So they are sent to prison as punishment for violating their probation. After sufficient expenditure of tax dollars and passage of time, they will ultimately be released.

No one, of course, should expect these "ex-cons" to be the same people getting released from prison as those who went in. In addition to everything learned and experienced while there, they are now emblazoned with a contemporary Scarlet Letter. They are now known as "convicted felons," so they are virtually unemployable and, in many cases, they will be ineligible for public assistance. It should surprise no one that they return to the only friends, neighborhood, and drugs they have ever known.

They will, almost inevitably, be arrested again. But this time, their request for probation will fall on deaf ears (since they performed so poorly on their first attempt). So they will be sentenced to even more years in prison (to teach them a lesson), and they will someday be released, and return to their friends, and the giant wheel of "justice" will keep turning.

As a taxpayer, I am outraged by the waste of money. As a human and a Christian, I am overwhelmed with sadness for the loss of so many joyous experiences that have been squandered. Instead of remaining free to pursue life's wondrous opportunities, these people are doomed to live and die in poverty and loneliness.

As I see it, our current laws produce the very thing which is feared to result from drug addiction!

If it were the plot of the movie, I would discourage people from seeing it as "just too stupid to believe."

ELROY WINDELL NECAISE

Mr. Elroy Windell Necaise, 72 of Steep Hollow, passed away at his home early Monday morning, March 11th. Elroy was born January 10, 1947 in Gulfport, the 4th of 6 children to Clifton J. & Bessie (Shaw) Necaise. He grew up in the Sellers community of Hancock county, and enjoyed the outdoors and horses.

He went to school at Sellers and Hancock North Central High School. Early in his career, he worked on a dairy and drove a milk truck. Later, he worked at Stennis for a while, and on his own farm as well. Elroy had an entrepreneurial drive, and loved to work and build things. He designed and patented a septic system, and operated A-1 Septic Systems for many years, with his system still in use today.

He has built many things over the years, mostly for his kids and grandkids, including rocking horses, bread and potato bins, elaborate and functional "play" houses, and even a home-made roller coaster. In his spare time, when he had any, he loved to fish and rabbit hunt as often as possible. Elroy is remembered by his children as a selfless man who was a dependable problem-solver. A comparable helpmate and provider for his wife Myra, he will be fondly remembered and sadly missed by all who knew and loved him. He was preceded by his parents, Clifton & Bessie, and one brother, Wayne. Left to cherish his memories are: his wife of 52 years, Myra (Haniel)

Necaise, their children, daughters Gina (Tim) Rigney of Hattiesburg, and Tina (Todd) Necaise of Poplarville, and their son, Brad (Mechelle) Necaise of Hattiesburg; his siblings: sisters Janell Wilson of Gulfport, Nelda Ladner of Perkinston, and Sharon (Kevin) Shaw, also of Gulfport, and one brother, Guy Necaise.

He also leaves twelve grandchildren, five great-grands, and numerous nieces, nephews, neighbors, customers, and friends over the years. Services have been set for Friday, March 15th at Steep Hollow Baptist Church where he was a member.

Visitation will begin at 12:00 noon, with the funeral service at 2:00 in the sanctuary. Interment will follow at the Smith Family Cemetery on Barth Road. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the Smith Family Cemetery, which can be mailed to 6 Michael D. Smith Road, Poplarville, MS 39470. Trinity Funeral Services is honored to serve the Necaise family in their time of need, and asks that everyone keep them in your thoughts and prayers during this difficult time.

As family and friends continue to grieve the loss of Rogers, others spoke out and demanded action from Gulfport officials and the community. They say they would like to help stop senseless crimes by fighting gun violence with education.

“Over the weekend, a piece of my heart was taken from me,” wrote a Bay High teacher who asked not to be identified. “While I have taught over a 1,000-plus kids over the past 10 years ... Each and every one of them become my child when they walk into my life. My precious, sweet, full of life, young Imani Rogers was killed by the hands of someone holding a gun. This is my second child that I have lost in my 10 years here teaching due to gun violence; a third being injured along with his close friend whom did not make it.

“The pain and suffering and trauma that I have seen so many of my kids go through is a pain that is nothing short of unbearable. I pray everyday for understanding. I am pleading for help from the mayors of both of our cities. Please open up a platform to discuss gun violence as well as gun safety. It HAS to be talked about. ... We have got to take action to save our children and make them more aware!”

process,” Skinner said. “I’m happy that we were able to interrupt this individual in the middle of committing drug crimes in our county,” Sheriff Ricky Adam said in the release. “Our patrol deputies and narcotics agents are expected to be proactive, and they are. That effort pays off in situations like this, helping us get one more drug offender off the street.”

Area teams finally hit a dry diamond

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The area baseball and softball squads finally had a dry diamond this past weekend for the first time this season. The weather to start the 2019 season has been wetter than it has ever been in recent memory. The result has been several changes of location and/or postponements. Let's hope that the wetter weather is now behind us as division competition is upon the teams beginning this week.

BASEBALL

On Friday, the Hancock Hawks entertained the St. Martin Yellow Jackets in Kiln. When the dust settled, St. Martin recorded a 5-0 decision.

The Yellow Jackets sent three across home plate in the top of the first inning to secure a 3-0 lead they would not relinquish.

St. Martin got another run in the second and one more in the third.

Hancock collected three hits in the game coming off the bats of Davis Shannon, Russell Frank and Colby Oliver.

Hancock head coach Anthony DeWitt stated, "St. Martin is a very strong team that had solid control and confidence tonight. We did not make adjustments at the plate to counter the outside pitches. I thought Colby Oliver threw well tonight for us."

"We just were not able to put the ball in play to help him."

Oliver fanned five batters, scattered just four hits and allowed only one earned run.

On Saturday, the Hawks swept two games from Tylertown 5-0 and 14-0.

In the first game, Hancock was led at the plate by Colton Cuevas with two hits followed by Brenham DeWitt with a single and RBI, Jackson Garrett with an RBI, Oliver with a double and RBI and Nate Hoda with a double and two RBIs.

In the second game, Hancock (3-5) was paced by Knight, Garrett, and Gannon Necaise who all had a double and two RBIs. Shannon, Cuevas, Oliver, and Frank all had a single and an RBI. Tanner Lemmon hit a homerun in the game.

The Bay High Tigers (3-2) beat Stone 5-4 on Thursday and invoked the mercy rule on Gautier 16-2 on Saturday.

Against Stone, Bay High was paced by Cade Compretta who tallied two hits and a RBI. Cooper Cooksey, Carson Moran, Ben Wilemon and Eli Bigham all recorded a hit. Garrett Langrell had a double and two RBIs.

In the second game, Compretta kept his big swing alive as he smacked a homerun and three RBIs while Cooksey and Langrell each had a hit and two RBIs.

Wilemon, Moran and Charlie Cook all had a hit.

Cooksey also got the win on the mound throwing five innings and allowing two hits, two earned runs and five strikeouts.

The Pass Christian Pirates (2-7) stumbled against PRC 6-0 on Friday and split a pair of games with Long Beach on Saturday.

Against PRC, Corben Williams had two hits to lead the Pirates.

In game one against Long Beach, Pass Christian fell 11-1. Bryce Dubuisson and Williams each had a hit in the loss.

In the second game, Pass Christian reversed their fortunes for a 9-6 victory over Long Beach.

Williams led the way with two hits including a triple with two RBIs. Ian Trochesett, Marcos Chacon, Trentin Niolet, Mason Knapp, Logan Webb, and Dubuisson all had hits.

On Friday, SSC topped Gautier 13-3 with Dawson Strong leading the way at the plate with three hits including two doubles. Trace Rhodes collected two triples while Taylor Lafontaine and Braxton Bean also had two hits. Colin Fredrickson, Easton Logan and Tristan Bush each added a hit.

On Saturday, the Rocks

(6-3) rallied to beat Pascagoula 16-6 after being down 5-0 in the first inning. Cole Fletcher won in relief throwing 5 2/3 innings with two hits and no runs. Fredrickson had two hits with one being a homerun. Bean and Bush each had two hits while Lafontaine, Rhodes, Strong, McNeil and Corban O'Bannon all recording hits.

In upcoming action, Bay High is set to host Pass Christian Friday evening before traveling to Greene County on Saturday. The Hancock Hawks will host Long Beach on Friday and Picayune on Saturday. SSC travels to East Central on Friday.

SSC's Lemoine signs running pact with Millsaps

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Saint Stanislaus College senior Landry Lemoine signed a National Letter of Intent to run cross country and track and field for Millsaps College on Monday.

Lemoine, a senior distance runner, selected Millsaps College after receiving interest from Loyola University of New Orleans, Mississippi College and Tulane University. Lemoine stated, "When I visited the campus, I was really taken by the very tight-knit school community that the campus possessed. Head coach Andy Till and members of the team, especially former East Central distance runner Zach Diehl who helped host me, were fantastic and welcoming. And, Millsaps is known for their academics and I feel that I will be challenged in that aspect."

At SSC, Lemoine has been involved in cross country and track and field the last three years while participating in basketball his entire time at SSC. Lemoine is also a member of National Honor Society, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Student Ministry team and the Boys and Girls Club.

In cross country, Lemoine has been an All-State runner for SSC the last three seasons. In track and field, he has been a state finalist in the 3200m run the last two seasons.

SSC cross country and track and field head coach DP Daigle commented, "I've probably never coached an athlete with as much heart as Landry Lemoine. Beyond that he's a student of his craft, constantly looking for ways to get better. You combine those attributes with his work effort and you have a coach's dream. I'm excited for this opportunity he has at Millsaps, they are getting one of our best."

Lemoine wants to study Business Administration. He has qualified to compete as a freshman with a weighted GPA of 4.31 and an ACT of 29 with a super score of 32. He is a candidate for an Honors diploma.

Lemoine ended, "I want to thank my parents for all they have sacrificed to help make me the best person I can be. And, I want to thank Coach Daigle who has been a very strategic coach with us over the years. He works us to the point where we are peaking at the right time of the season and every week we are getting better."

Millsaps plans to use Lemoine in the 3200m, 5000m and 10,000m runs on the track and in the standard 8K in cross country.

Lemoine is expected to arrive in early August to prepare for the cross country season that takes place in the fall.

Millsaps is a Division

III school that competes in the Southern Athletic Association with member schools Berry College, Birmingham-Southern College, Centre College, Hendrix College, Oglethorpe University, Rhodes College and the University of the South.

Don't mess with Momma

People usually associate fishing with the father and son trip (myself included). Often we forget about how important the mother and son/daughter trip is.

I remember the trips my mom used to take me and my brother fishing well.

She would load up the gigantic station wagon with all of our gear, bait and other toys. We'd fish and crab along the sea wall off Bayou Caddy. We really never caught a bunch of fish, but just loved being outside fishing. Those often chaotic fishing trips are why I now fish for a living.

This past week I had my good buddy Jenny and her two boys Abe and Oren on the boat. Her young boys are about as good of fisherman as anyone I know. They have caught triple tail, snapper, tuna, swordfish, you name it.

Jenny can fish, but she is very prone to sea sickness. I was nervous and excited when she jumped into the boat. We didn't run far, and just fished around the Bay and Taylor Reef. It was all live shrimp on the bottom at every stop.

I think the first 5 fish we caught were all Jenny's. Once we we found a good nest of sheepshead

SHORE THING FISHING REPORT

by Capt. Sonny Schindler

though, Abe and Oren kicked it into overdrive. Those fish never stood a chance, and we filled the box quickly. We all took turns getting bait, netting fish and busting each other's chops. If you missed a fish, you got attacked from every angle.

Jenny eventually pulled the plug and said it was time to go.

We left the fish biting, and took an easy ride home.

The boys were wondering why would we ever leave fish biting? I simply told them, "keep momma happy boys". And off we went...

As always, have fun and be safe.

Learning About Black History

Mrs. Pamela Terry's 2nd graders at Waveland Elementary School observed Black History Month with reports on the contributions of prominent African Americans. The students chose authors, athletes, musicians, scientists, political figures and educators including Mrs. Terry to study and shared information about them with their fellow students and parents. Mrs. Terry said Bay-Waveland superintendent Dr. Sandra Reed and Waveland Elementary principal Steven Engle encourage and support multicultural awareness programs such as the Black History Month observance.

NASA Stennis Space Center Announces 2019 SSC ASTRO CAMP® Schedule

SEA COAST ECHO

The NASA Stennis Space Center Office of STEM Engagement has announced schedule and registration details for 2019 Stennis ASTRO CAMP®, a series of week-long summer camps held in June and July (excluding the week of July 4th).

Camps are held at INFINITY Science Center, located at the intersection of I-10 Exit 2 and Highway 607. The program launches on June 3, with weekly camps running through July 19. The program is developed with age-appropriate STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) activities and NASA content for student groups in grades 2-3, 4-6 and 7-10.

ASTRO CAMP® is part of the Stennis Office of STEM Engagement, which seeks to provide opportunities for learners to engage in STEM education activities that capitalize on NASA's unique assets and content to inspire future astronauts and engineers to learn about space. All ASTRO CAMP® instructors are certified educators with STEM experience to ensure robust instruction for campers, and ASTRO CAMP® counselors are college-enrolled NASA interns. Additional certified educators will be participating in the 2019 ASTRO CAMP® educational professional development program throughout the summer, connecting classrooms to NASA's educational resources supporting both Next Generation Science Standards, and College and Career Readiness Standards, all applied utilizing NASA ASTRO CAMP® methodologies.

The theme for this year's ASTRO CAMP® is "Next Generation Exploring Moon Today ... Mars Tomorrow!" ASTRO CAMP® presents math and science principles through fun, hands-on activities that teach teams of campers to work together to complete NASA science-directed missions. ASTRO CAMP® sessions provide campers the NASA experience of aeronautics from first flight to space flight; space technology engineering design with robotics applications; and Solar System-and-Beyond activities featuring planets, moons, stars and galaxies, with an encompassing survey of the Earth. Human exploration in space activities include real-world applications for living and working in low-earth orbits and for preparing the next generation of explorers traveling deeper into space to live and work on the Moon today and Mars tomorrow.

The 7th-10th grade STARS Astro Camp® includes extensive computer-focused robotics exercises and a hands-on 3D-printing experience with an emphasis on engineering design applications. Distance-learning experiences are featured, using NASA center experts and educators throughout NASA. An additional week is scheduled for the STARS ASTRO CAMP®, which features a collaboration of the U.S. Navy Research Laboratory's SeaPerch remotely-operated vehicle program and NASA space-to-ocean robotics activities.

Each camp week culminates in a tour of Stennis Space Center, including the rocket engine test stands, the launching of each camper's own Estes rocket and parent participation in closing ceremonies each Friday.

Registration for the 2019 camps begins March 11, 2019, and continues on a first-come, first-served basis until all camps are filled. All registration must be completed and mailed to the address provided on the ASTRO CAMP® website listed below. For more information, contact the Stennis Education Office at 228-688-3485.

To register, visit the ASTRO CAMP® webpage at:

They suggest that an intervention — such as a hearing aid — could delay or prevent this by improving hearing!

It is home to one of the world's largest indoor manufacturing facilities, has 900,000 square feet of office space, a deep-water port used for transportation and its own dedicated rail head. Michoud's importance to Louisiana and the nation goes beyond NASA. Michoud provides a significant source of employment and income in the two-state region. Its multi-tenant facility houses government agencies and private companies that support 3,500 employees on site every day. The direct economic impact of the facility in the region is around $342 million. The direct global economic impact is $800 million. Partners for Stennis & Michoud is a coalition of Mississippi and Louisiana citizens and businesses. We advocate for the support and growth of these two NASA assets that create a demand for a highly skilled regional workforce. We also support the marketing of Stennis and Michoud as a two-state technology corridor. Our members are volunteer representatives from businesses, chambers of commerce, economic development agencies, educational institutions, local governments, community groups and private citizens.
